

62145
2/9/53

More than

4 BALES per acre

a champion seed helps champion farmers break all records!

Thomas R. Coleman, Yazoo City, Mississippi, set a new high in cotton production in the Mississippi 5-acre cotton production demonstration in 1954. Using Deltapine 15 Breeder's Registered Seed, he produced 4.22 bales per acre, with a lint average of 2,112 pounds per acre.

J. W. and J. H. Pruitt, champion farmers from Clarksdale, Mississippi, broke records, too, in the 5-acre demonstration. Using Deltapine 15 Breeder's Registered Cotton Seed, they produced 4.14 bales to the acre with a lint average of 2,072 pounds per acre.

Breeder's Registered
D & PL-FOX

- Fast Fruiting
- Early Maturing
- Excellent for Machine Harvesting
- Moderately-High Lint Percent (34% to 38%)
- 1-1/16 to 1-3/32 Inch Staple

"Fustest With The Mostest"

Many producers have observed that the early fruiting habit of Fox enabled it to set a crop on early moisture, before the hot dry weather burned up other varieties. Farmers like Fox cotton for its fast fruiting, early maturing qualities, premium staple and good picking by hand or machine. But here again the number one reason for the popularity of D&PL-FOX is that it is a Proved Profit Maker in many areas.

Breeder's Registered
DELTAPINE 15

- Medium-Early Maturing
- Heavy Yielding
- High Lint Percent (38% to 40%)
- Easy Picking — Hand or Machine
- 1-1/16 to 1-1/8 Inch Staple

The COTTON That Won't Quit

Maybe it is this extra stamina of stalk and root system which makes it stand up better under severe conditions, or the fact that it will respond to late summer rains with an extra top crop. Maybe these plus features combined with the fact that Deltapine 15 has the highest gin turnout of any variety of comparable staple, are the reasons why one-third of the cotton acreage of the U. S. is planted with this famous cotton year after year. The main reason, however, is that farmers make more money by planting Deltapine 15 cotton.

For Breeder's Registered Seed of these two famous cottons, see your seed distributor or write direct to

DELTA & PINE LAND COMPANY

SCOTT, MISSISSIPPI

Breeders of the Belt's Best Cotton

